This month's book is "Once There Were Wolves"
by Charlotte McConaghy

"A stunning amalgam of environmental fiction and a deep exploration of personal relationships. An exceptional book that captures the soul and breaks the heart, only to put it back together again." -- "Newsweek"

Upcoming Nov. 5th Book Group Title: "We Are the Brennans"
by Tracey Lange

"When we leave the Brennans, they are perhaps more flawed than they were at the start. But that, to my mind, is what makes them feel human, and what makes the book feel real.....[A] confident, polished debut novel..."
—The New York Times

 ODYSSEY

Please join us to meet local author and adventurer Jeffrey Ryan. Jeffrey will share his story and pictures about his 28 year adventure. More about Appalachian Odyssey: "In 1985, Jeffrey Ryan inadvertently began an adventure that would last almost three decades. Ryan and a newfound friend climbed Maine's Katahdin. As they stood on the summit, they had no idea they had embarked on a section hiking journey that would cover all 2,100 miles of the trail. The story of Appalachian Odyssey is much more than a travel dialogue. It's the story of perseverance, friendship, fun, and personal growth, one the former editor of National Geographic hailed as, "destined to become a classic of nature and travel writing."
